Testimonial

My father passed away very unexpectedly. He was a very special part of our family's life including my daughter, Samantha. Samantha was six years old and in the first grade when her "Papa" passed away. She was very close to my father and spent a great deal of time in his company and care.

His sudden passing was a tremendous shock to her but she was unable to express her grief. Because my mother and I were grieving, Samantha felt her grief would make us even sadder. We tried talking with her and were considering a grief counselor when her pediatrician told me about Camp-Forget-Me-Not.

The camp was a fabulous experience for Samantha! She came away from the camp with a sense of belonging and understanding. It literally changed her. It is as if all her uncertainty about the death of my father and the grieving process had disappeared. Her personality became brighter and she was much more expressive of her thoughts and emotions. She is very comfortable talking with my mother and me about her Papa and does so often.

There was no charge for the camp and the programs were outstanding. She had individualized attention and was able to share within her own peer group. She participated in crafts and singing. She really enjoyed herself and made some new friends. I have highly recommended Camp Forget-Me-Not to several people who have grieving children.
